

ANGELA FOSTER

PETITE STYLE COACH

With over two decades of executive experience in the fashion and beauty industry, Angela Foster specializes in empowering high-achieving petite women to exude confidence by curating a wardrobe tailored to their unique needs. Angela's clients consistently show up self-assured, whether it's during keynote presentations, high-stakes board meetings, or daily life, all thanks to a meticulously curated wardrobe that works with their short-girl status, accentuates their body shape, and reflects their personal style.

Angela's expertise has been featured in Real Simple and BestLife, inside of leadership coaching programs, and on podcasts including Wingnut Social and Liz on Biz. Whether it's through DIY or personalized style coaching, Angela makes sure her clients never again find themselves paralyzed by the dreaded "I have nothing to wear" dilemma.

GENERAL Topics

- Angela's SPARK method for creating a closet you love
- Aligning personal and business brand through clothing
- Adjusting your style to casual work environments
- Crafting a brand-uniform beyond the black turtleneck
- Supporting your industry expertise with style
- Team coaching for effective meeting and video presence

SAMPLE Questions

- How can women dress for their body shape?
- Where can women find clothes that flatter petite women?
- What trends are popular this season and do they work for petites?
- How can women create a brand uniform without wearing the exact same outfit every day?
- How can we coach team members to show up stylishly and appropriately for meetings and Zoom calls?
- What are the right ways to purge your closet and build a wardrobe that fits your style and branding?
- How should business owners plan for an upcoming brand photoshoot?
- What does 'shopping with intention' really mean?
- What options do we have for covering 'flaws' besides baggy clothing?

AS FEATURED ON

Connect

